Long time ago, there were three survivors and their plane crashed. Then they ended up on an island. Then they needed some stuff to survive.

The shark was in the water, they needed to be careful to take the stuff to survive. If the survivors swim in the water the shark would eat them. The supplies were in the water, they needed the food to survive, or else they would be starved to death.

One man saw the shark swam away, then he jumped into the sea, but the shark came back, he didn't get the stuff and the shark ate him.

Another man got the knife and jumped into the sea to fight with the shark. The shark was so big, he couldn't win in the water, so the shark ate him.

The third man had a gun and he stayed on the raft. When he saw the shark swim close to the raft, he shot the shark. The shark died and he grabbed the stuff to wait for help. Finally he returned to the base.
